

Principled Policing Course

Hosted by University of Utah Police Department

Location: University of Utah Police Department

1658 East 500 South

Salt Lake City, UT 84115

Date: April 18, 2024

Time: 8:00 am to 12:00 pm Mountain Time

Join the University of Utah Police Department for the four-hour Principled Policing training. This course will educate participants on the concept of principled policing and explain how it strengthens trust between police/public safety and communities. Participants will learn the historical and generational impact of policing legitimacy, ways to increase police legitimacy, the benefits of procedural justice in law enforcement, and how implicit bias impacts policing.

Registration is limited to a maximum of 30 participants. Please register by April 4, 2024.

NOTE: If not an IACP member, each participant will need to create a new account to register for the training. This is free of cost and does not require an IACP membership. Click "Log In to Register" and then select "Create a New Account." Once on the new account page, fill in all the information with an asterisk * and any other information you would like to provide. Please ensure you keep track of your login credentials for your account as you will need to access it the day of the course.
